SUMMER

Church Camp. This afternoon, our crew departs for Camp Ney-a-ti in Guntersville, AL. Over 100 people from several congregations will be converging on the shores of Lake Guntersville today! Be praying for Alex and Alison along with their team of counselors and adult staff and all our students. It's no secret that many young people through the years have given their lives to Christ through baptism while at camp. Let's pray we'll see that happen this week! And let's be praying that God would work on the hearts of everyone attending. May God bless our week of camp!

Living Within Limits. Summer often provides extra time for rest and reflection. But for many of you, the summer months have not brought about a slower schedule in the least. Many of us are stretched way too thin and are living beyond our God-given limits. If I'm speaking to you, let me share with you some wise words from a book I'm reading. I hope you'll slow down long enough to read them! "There is a finiteness to what I can do in this body. There is a finiteness to how many relationships I can engage in meaningfully at one time. There is a finiteness to time—how many hours there are in a day, how many days there are in a week and how much can be done in those blocks of time. There is a finiteness to my energy. There comes a time when I am tired. There comes a time when I am sick. There comes a time when I am injured. These are times when I am reminded that I am human—a finite being living in the presence of an infinite God. God is the infinite one. God is the one who can be all things to all people. God is the one who can be in all places at once. God is the one who never sleeps. I am not."

Our sermon series on Philippians continues during Sunday morning worship this summer!

I'll be teaching on one more worship song this Wednesday night before guest speakers begin joining us this summer!
