Joe's Jots

Welcome to Worship.

We're glad you're here! Before our worship begins, we'll be calling all our students to the front of the auditorium to offer a special prayer for them at the start of this new school year. We'll also be praying for all our teachers, administrators, and, of course, our parents! The sermon this morning is called "This Is An Emergency" and the text is Mark 3:1-6. Don't forget that next Sunday, August 14 is All-In-One! Also, don't forget that Dr. Brad Harrub is with us every Wednesday night at 7 PM this month. (Details for both of these events can be found on the back page of this bulletin).

The Loneliest Seat in the House.

It takes a lot of courage to slide out of a pew and walk to the front of the auditorium during the invitation song. When someone comes down the aisle to ask for forgiveness or prayers for encouragement, they're putting themselves in a very vulnerable position. The front pew is the loneliest seat in the house. So wouldn't it be powerful if every person who came forward had several following right behind them to show support? Our congregation is exceptional in demonstrating love to the person after the final amen is said, but we ought to get started earlier. As the father of the lost son ran towards his boy as he was coming home (Luke 15:20), we should be eager to embrace those seeking to make their lives right with the Lord. We want our assemblies to be safe places where people feel comfortable coming forward. Joining people on the front row right away will go a long way in accomplishing this!

Quotable. "The church of yesteryear was not nearly as perfect as many remember and the church of tomorrow is not nearly as hopeless as many predict. Sometimes I think we need to look back with a little less nostalgia and look forward with a little more hope, faith, and courage. Let's be Jesus' church today and everyday." (Wes McAdams)

PM Preview: Join us for a time of worship in song at 6 PM!
